Short Course Description	This course discusses actions to implement economic development/policies in stable social life both within the country and between countries which require regulations based on applicable legal provisions. Various cases of economic policies and transactions are presented by highlighting the legal aspects so that the implications are clear in the formulation and making of decisions and the certainty of their implementation. The discussion emphasizes an introduction to civil law, commercial law and bankruptcy law. The learning method used is a cooperative model
